School Repair Bill Only $2,068.11 for Last Three Years

Supt. Jesse H. Mason's Report to Board Shows 127 Rooms, 42 Corridors and 83 Closets and Cloakrooms Were Improved with Money

SAYS ENORMOUS SAVING EFFECTED BY PLAN

Janitors Employed for Full 12 Months Organized into Unit During Summer Months To Do All Redecorating and Repair Work, He Reveals

A TOTAL of $2,068 11 was spent by Marion Board of Education in the last three years for the redecoration and improvement of Marion public schools according to a report issued today by Supt Jesse H Mason today.

The expenditure brought improvement to 127 rooms, 42 corridors and 83 closets and cloak rooms the report states.

In accordance with the new plan worked out by which the janitors of the city schools made up the group of redecorators no extra expense for labor was necessary to be paid by the Board.

The janitors in former years were employed the same as they are now for the entire 12 months of the year but were never called upon to work outside of their respective schools. Each janitor now is given adequate time in which to prepare his building for the opening of school after the repair period.

Redecorating started in 1923 by the board was the first to be undertaken since August 1919 when the Oak st building was remodeled under contract. The cost of the improvement of that building was $1 7220 or about $700 less than the entire cost of repair of nearly all of the Marion schools in the last three years.

Force Organized

The janitor force was first organized to paint lines as school in 1923 when the Community Club of that school offered to contribute $100 to pay for the paint if the Board would furnish the labor. The job was undertaken by the board which paid $232 68 for additional supplies for the building.

The reaction to the project was such that in the summer of 1924 community clubs of Forest Lawn, Greenwood, Lincoln and Pearl st Schools offered financial assistance to the board to renovate their respective buildings.

Expenses This Year

Expenditures of this year amounted to $850 60 for supplies. The force not

CLARENCE DARROW ILL, SECRETARY DECLARES

Noted Attorney Would Not Be Able To Attend Strenuous Trial

Denver Colo Sept 4—Clarence Darrow is a sick man although he is not in any immediate danger nor is his illness considered of a dangerous nature by attending physicians but he is too ill to undergo the strenuous duties attending a court trial in connection with the Don R Mellett murder case at Canton Ohio.

FIRE CAUSES $30,000 DAMAGE TO KENTON MILL

Department Fights Blaze Three Hours Before Gaining Control

Kenton Sept 4—Fire of undetermined origin this morning completely gutted the four story brick building in S Detroit st which houses the Brick mill and elevator.

Summoned to the scene at about six o clock this morning the fire department was unable to get the blaze under control until after nine o clock. Several streams of water were played on the smouldering debris during the day.

Plant No 2 The Rundle Co candy manufacturers is located adjoining the mill and for a time it was feared that it too would catch fire.

The entire city police force was called out to keep the crowd back of safety lines. Fear was expressed that the building walls would cave and lives be endangered by flying brick.

This is the second time that the building has been burned in the last few years all equipment having been destroyed a few years ago when the mill was the property of [illegible] & Son.

FOUR QUALIFY FOR MUNICIPAL COURT JUDGE

Time for Filing Petitions Ends, Election To Be Held in November

TERM FOUR YEARS

Salary of Judge Will Be $4,000 Yearly, Council To Appoint Assistants

With four Marion attorneys entered in the race for judge of Marion s Municipal Court which will begin functioning Jan 1 increased interest on the part of the voters is being shown in the duties and powers of the new tribunal.

The Marion Municipal Court authorized by an act of the state legislature adopted April 15 1925 after a rather spirited contest will be similar to the common pleas court in many important details and will exercise virtually the same powers as the county court within a more limited jurisdiction.

Salary $4 000

The new judge to be chosen at the November election for a term of four years will receive an annual salary of $4 000 and will have his office and court in the Municipal headquarters in the Eagles building at W Center and Orchard sts. His assistants to be appointed by the City Council will probably include a chief clerk record clerk court stenographer and bailiff.

Candidates for the local judgeship all of whom qualified by filing nominating petitions prior to the expiration of the allotted time Friday night are James H [illegible] Homer L Johnson William R Martin and Luther A [illegible]. All are attorneys regularly admitted to the bar this qualification being required for the office.

Jurisdiction

The court s jurisdiction will include all of the city of Marion and Marion Township and while the law specifies that the City Council and the township trustees shall levy an annual tax to pay expenses of the tribunal it is expected that this levy will be unnecessary after the first year the prediction of attorneys and others conversant with the situation being that receipts from operation will more than pay expenses after the first few months.

This court will eliminate both of the Marion township justices of the peace and besides taking over the work now handled by those officials will handle all of the police cases now heard by the mayor. Its powers include the prelim

Geneva Sept 4—Germany s entrance into the League of Nations has been assured E Benes Czecho Slovakian delegate and chairman of today s session of the League of Nations council today informed the International News Service.

The meeting of the council today which accepted the report of the committee on reorganization has cleared all obstacles to Germany s entrance to the league Benes said.

All that now remains is for the assembly to vote Germany into the league next week.

MOTORIST GIVES HIKERS LIFT AND IS TAKEN IN

Earl Miller, Marion County, Loses His Disposition and Friend's Automobile

Earl Miller a resident of this county yesterday had a perfectly good borrowed automobile and a friendly disposition toward hikers along the country highways.

Today he is minus of both.

His car was stolen—but he lost his disposition.

Miller left his home here yesterday on a business trip driving a car he had borrowed from a friend to make the journey.

His business took him eastward. Near Galion he passed two boys walking toward that city. He gave them a lift when they hailed him for a ride.

On the way the boys seemed quite friendly and chatted with Miller informing him that they were from Mansfield and were going home after a little hiking trip.

When Miller stopped the car at Galion for a few minutes he left the boys sitting in the machine and told them he would return shortly.

He returned to the parking place a while later but found no auto and no boys.

In the description given to police he said that the larger boy of the two was about 16 years of age and the other about 11 or 12 years.

No trace of the machine has been found to date and Mansfield police have no clews which might lead to the identity of the two youngsters.

M'Clintock Will Speed Trials of Rudner and Mazer

Ironclad Indictments Returned Against Trio, Prosecutor Declares; No Loopholes Through Which Prisoners May Escape

MASSILLON HARDWARE MERCHANT IN MOP GANG

Roach May Be Called as Aide to County Prosecutor; Great Array of Legal Talent Expected To Participate in Hearings

CANTON Sept 4—Ben Rudner erstwhile bootlegger and Massillon hardware merchant arrested here yesterday on a first degree murder indictment in connection with the killing of Don R Mellett Canton publisher is taking his place with the mop gang at the Stark County jail today and doing work that he has never before been called upon to do.

Although he was arrested in 1921 for participation in a conspiracy to violate the liquor laws, he was not confined in jail and was not behind bars until he was taken to Atlanta to serve his term of two years in the federal prison.

That there will be a great array of legal talent for the defense when the cases come to trial there is not the least doubt.

Rudner s father is a wealthy Jewish scrap iron merchant and rumors today are to the effect that he will begin at once to take steps to secure the services of Clarence Darrow to defend his wayward son.

The firm of Amerman and Mills has already been approached both in behalf of Rudner and Louis Mazer the other men indicted for the murder of Mellett by the Stark County grand jury and it is also quite possible that the firm of Clarke and Clarke will also represent Mazer.

There is small chance of a loop hole in the form of the indictments through which the prisoners may escape. They were drawn by Prosecutor C B McClintock and he has the reputation of drawing iron clad indictments.

Kascholk Held

Steve Kascholk the man who was first engaged to take his part in beating up Mellett but who got scared and pulled out of his part of the plan and went to Cleveland and who after the murder of the publisher came to this city and made a clean breast of the plot has been held under $50 000 bail. Pearl Cavanaugh Cleveland woman held as a material witness has been placed under $10 000 bail. They have been transferred from the county jail to the Stark County workhouse where they will be held until after the trial unless in the meantime they are able to furnish the amount of bond required. This will prevent their being molested by any of the friends of Mazer or Rudner.

Prosecutor McClintock has announced

Only Half Gang That Murdered Mellett Indicted by Jurors, Widow Complains

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind Sept 4—Dissatisfaction with the failure of a Stark County, Ohio, grand jury to indict more persons in connection with the slaying of Don R Mellett, Canton publisher, was voiced here today by the publisher s widow, when she learned of the indictment of three men for the murder.

At the same time, she expressed the belief that part of the right gang had been indicted and that faced with death in the electric chair, some of the defendants would "squeal" and reveal the others involved in the slaying.

"I am sure the jury failed to indict half of the gang involved in the murder of my husband," Mrs. Mellett said. "Of course, they could only indict those they had sufficient evidence against, yet, knowing the evidence presented, I don't see how they failed to indict others.

"I don't want any more charged with murder out of revenge," Mrs Mellett continued. "For the meting out of justice can never bring back the father of these children," she said, indicating their four children, Evans, 11, Gene, 9, Betty Lou, 8, and Martha Jane 4, standing beside her chair.

"But Mr Mellett s campaign against bootlegging and vice must be carried through. The guilty ones must be punished that other innocent children may be protected and the lives of the citizens of Canton made safe from the guns of organized criminals," Mrs Mellett declared.

"The deaths of these men can not restore my husband, but it would re-establish the right and duty of the press to work for the betterment of the community which it serves. The cold blooded shooting of my husband was as much an attack upon the press as it was a threat and affront to the law abiding citizens of Canton, who objected to their city being the sanctum sanctorum of criminals."

Registration

Days for registration will also be designated by the Marion County board of elections at one of its meetings this month. While the state law stipulates that voters shall be given ample opportunity to register prior to election it leaves the date and number of days up to the discretion of local officials.

The city of Marion is the only part of Marion county where registration is required. Registration this year provided solely to accomodate new voters or those who have changed from one precinct to another since the last voting day will take place some time during October.

The Board of Elections office will be kept open with an assistant clerk in charge until after election day, November 2.

There were no last minute entries in the contests for municipal and common pleas judge, the lists standing the same as those announced yesterday. L. I. Myer, John DeGalley, H. C. Thompson, George T. Geran and George H. Scofield are candidates for common pleas judge and W. K. Martin, Homer F. Johnson, James H. Fenton and Luther W. Bucapher.

only completed the buildings which gave financial assistance but Davids st. and Glenwood buildings and the study halls of Harding High School as well.

Last June the janitor force was again put to work and this summer completed repairs at Harding High School, Oakland, Mark st. and both the exterior and interior of the Silver st. school. The cost was $9,485.

With the exception of Vernon Heights and N. Main schools all of the schools were badly in need of repair when the present board took charge in 1923. The two schools named were constructed in recent years.

Buildings in need of paint, leaky roofs at Penn st., Silver st., Annex, Olney av., Oakland Heights and old wood buildings declared unsafe by state fire marshal. Silver st. School was heated only by gas mantles and the Annex was without any artificial lighting facilities.

Furnace Repairs

Furnaces at Silver st., Annex, Lincoln, Mark st., Olney av. and Blaine st. buildings were completely worn out and several other buildings' furnaces were in need of repair. Desks in many of the buildings were scarred and had broken metal fixtures.

Three of the schools, Harding High, Glenwood and Olney av., had never been redecorated since construction.

The same year that the repairs were begun the Board faced a financial deficit of about $10,000. Board records show that during the preceding three years the city schools had faced an average annual deficit of more than $00,000.

Facing these apparently difficult problems in 1923 the board agreed on certain fundamental principles of procedure.

Board's Stand

1—A determination that the expenditures of any school year should not exceed the receipt.

2—Resolution not to cease labors until every child in Marion was provided with a clean, well lighted, heated and ventilated room.

3—The determination to remedy conditions as rapidly as proper consideration of the burden of the tax payer would justify it.

4—The policy of proceeding with the repair program by selecting the most urgent and economical first. And the use of the janitors for the repair work.

In the report Superintendent Mason calls attention to the fact of the cooperation in the work by the janitors and expressed his appreciation for their work.

Mr. Mason also praised the work of the board during the three years. He said: "Remembering that this week completes my first period of service in Marion, I feel that I cannot close this report without some definite reference to the fine service that the Board of Education has given to the public."

that he will not be part of any delay in the trial of the cases against Rudner or Mazer. He is in hopes also that before the dates for their trial have been set that Pat McDermott, the third person indicted in the Mellett slaying, will be caught and brought to Stark county.

Roach May Be Aide

There is said to be a disposition on the part of the prosecutor to ask for special counsel to aid him in the trial of the murder case and it was intimated that he will ask for appointment of Joseph B. Roach, who has just left here after having made a wide and searching investigation of vice and crime conditions that is likely to result in the indictment of a score of more Canton residents by a federal grand jury for participation in a conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition laws.

Roach left here last Tuesday for Chicago to try a number of cases in the federal courts but will come back here and go to Cleveland on Sept. 10 to aid United States District Attorney Bernstein in preparing the conspiracy cases for the federal courts.

It was hinted today that counsel for the defendants once organized will immediately ask change of venue on the ground that it would be impossible for the prisoners to receive a fair and impartial trial in the courts of Stark County. Unless this is granted the prisoners will be tried before Judge Alva Deal of the common pleas court.

In the meantime Mazer, who is now in the Cuyahoga County jail at Cleveland, will be brought back here to enter a plea to the indictment against him and then be kept in the county jail here until the time of trial.

This is the first time that Rudner has been arrested on any charge upon which he could not get bail. When arrested some years ago by federal authorities he was held until the arrival of a United States marshal and then taken to Cleveland where he and the marshal stayed at a hotel overnight. In the morning bail was arraigned and he was free until he was taken to Atlanta.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT MUNICIPAL COURT STARTS ON PAGE 1

inary hearing of all criminal and misdemeanor cases and civil suits up to a specified maximum limit. All actions for the recovery of money and personal property up to $1,000 in value will come before the municipal judge. This will relieve the county common pleas court of considerable work, as under the present system all civil actions involving over $300 must be taken before the county tribunal, justices of the peace being authorized to hear no suits in excess of that figure.

Arguments for System

Several arguments are advanced in favor of the new municipal court system. One is that it eliminates the retention of fees for court services, attaches of the new tribunal all being paid definite salaries with no provision for additional compensation. The statute regulating operation of the municipal tribunal provides that on the first day of each month the clerk of the court shall pay to the general fund of the city all monies received for clerical services to the safety fund all fines collected for violations of state laws.

The fact that this will be a court of record almost exactly similar to the common pleas court is also regarded as an exceptionally valuable feature. A stenographic account of every trial and hearing will be taken, providing protection for litigants not available under the present system, attorneys say.

It is also claimed that the new court will eliminate difficulties now connected with the collection of accounts and with garnishee action. The present system, advocates of the new court say, does not provide adequate protection for debtors. It will be possible through the functioning of the new tribunal to readily enforce the garishee law which stipulates that the total levy against any person's salary or wages shall not exceed 20 per cent during a 30 day period, attorneys state.

Collecting Agencies

Collecting agencies will run up against new restrictions and obstacles when the Municipal Court starts functioning. Under the present plan collectors have been able to act as their own attorneys in justice court cases but this will be impossible after Jan. 1. The law provides that in all suits brought by some one other than the plaintiff in the action an attorney regularly admitted to the bar must be employed. This does not apply, however, to merchants and others who wish to start action for collection of their own accounts or to seek judgment for any other cause. This will be privileged to start suit and appear in court personally for the purpose of prosecuting action.

The collecting agencies will not be able to escape these restrictions by taking their accounts to justice courts in other townships. Action must be taken in the township where the debtors reside, so that no collection suits against Marion residents can be legally started outside of the Municipal Court's jurisdiction.

Court Powers

The new court will have authority to compel attendance of witnesses from any place in Marion County. It will also be authorized to issue executions and enforce collections of its own judgments, to subject real and personal property of debtors to attachment for the payment of accounts and to marshal and foreclose liens within the same territory.

The Municipal Judge is to be sole authority in some cases, no appeal from his decisions being authorized for cases involving less than $300. Suits of that class may be carried up to higher courts on error, however.

Judgments granted by the court shall be recorded as a lien against the defendants' real estate, the same as is provided in common pleas court action.

Jury Trials

Regulations governing jury trials in civil suits provide that to obtain the services of a jury application must be made in writing before the day of the trial. The jury will consist of six persons unless both sides agree upon a smaller number. Twelve jurors is the maximum.

A three-fourths vote is sufficient for a verdict which will have the same force and effect as if rendered unanimously.

In all criminal cases juries shall consist of 12 persons.

While any suit is pending in the municipal court no third person can acquire an interest in the subject of action in conflict with the plaintiff's title.

Where no specific provisions are stated in the Municipal Court law, statutes governing the common pleas court shall apply.

In Other Cities

Municipal courts have been functioning in the larger cities of the state for many years but only in recent years has the system been applied to the smaller cities. [illegible] Such court is [illegible] recently [illegible] legislature [illegible] of Marion's class which this year also have been [illegible] Ashland, East Liverpool, Massillon, New Lexington, Springfield and Zanesville. The system has been found satisfactory in all places where it has been tried, it is pointed out.

Besides election of a judge in the city Marion [illegible] will be required to elect [illegible] to take care of other [illegible] details. It is estimated that between 40 and [illegible] cases will be necessary to take care of the [illegible] The new judge is expected to visit other courts throughout the state to obtain information needed for starting the local court.

Heroism is Not Unknown Among Artists on Stage;

BEN WELCH, BLIND COMEDIAN, DIES; NEWS AND VIEWS OF THEATER

Success of Valentino's "Son of the Sheik" Amazing

THE [illegible] of Ben Welch [illegible] east.

[illegible]

Ben Welch refused to retire. He was blind [illegible] on.

[illegible] Ben Welch [illegible] lighted [illegible] Ben Welch [illegible] with [illegible] leaving [illegible] Not a line of [illegible] about his affliction [illegible] in the public [illegible]. He [illegible] on his merits as a comedian.

The same week that this writer saw Ben Welch he also saw Mabel McKinley, niece of the late President McKinley. Mabel McKinley is a hopeless cripple but with [illegible] here. Ben Welch and Mabel McKinley headlined their respective vaudeville bills. Afflictions did not deter them in their efforts to entertain the public and at the same time earn a livelihood.

One of the real cases of heroism. Many such cases are found on the stage.

And here's another slant on this business of entertaining. A well-known vaudeville couple recently were divorced but have reunited professionally for a vaudeville tour. And that is only one of many like cases.

Rudolph Valentino's last picture "The Son of the Sheik" is not for Marion audiences, the managers here state. During the last two weeks the demand for the picture in larger cities has been great and nearly every theater showing it has done turnaway business.

However, as soon as the name of Valentino slips from print with his burial the demand for the picture will slacken.

While one circuit of theaters ordered some 50 prints of the film, the Balaban and Katz theaters of Chicago ordered the withdrawal of the feature as soon as word of the star's death was received.

Among the interesting pictures to be offered in Marion this fall none comes with greater promise than "Variety," the German-made film that is to be shown at the Marion Theater the first three days of next week. Emil Jannings, seen in "Quo Vadis" and other foreign-made specials, is the star of "Variety," which recently packed the Rialto Theater, New York City, for eight weeks.

"Variety" has for its background vaudeville life. The picture is unusual in its treatment, so unusual that the Ohio Board of Censors demanded a change in some of the footage before allowing it to be shown here.

Next week is Paramount Week. Besides "Variety," the Marion will offer Tom Meighan in "Tin Gods" and the Grand will have the first half of the week "Sea Horses," with Jack Holt and Florence Vidor.

It's told now that Trudy Ederle was offered $100,000 for 20 weeks of vaudeville following her great swim. As soon as Mrs. Corson swam the Channel the offer was withdrawn, it is said, and she was offered the same route at $1,500 a week, or $30,000 for the tour.

Not so long ago the public read that Red Grange hurried back to Wheaton because he was a "flop" in Hollywood and sorely disappointed at himself. A reliable trade journal this week says that this far-famed redhead may be a screen hit, for his performance is far in advance of what might be expected considering the conditions of his entrance into pictures. And his first release carries a wallop. It's in the finishing football game, of course, but it's a corker and should sell the picture. The title of the film by the way is "One Minute to Play."

Yanked from the driver's seat of a New York truck, John Ubin Kolb, with 276 pounds of brawn distributed over a 6 foot 7 inch frame, arrived in Hollywood as manual labor's latest contribution to the screen.

Kolb was pressed into service in an emergency to battle Milton Sills when his truck was parked outside the First National Studio in New York City. Now he owns an ironclad contract and a dressing room in the same row with Sills, Harry Langdon, Colleen Moore, Lewis Stone, Anna Q. Nilsson and other celebrities.

The giant Kolb was preceded in Hollywood by many others who have earned their "three squares" by the sweat of their brow. Noah Beery used to pilot a cable car in Kansas City. Wallace, his brother, was a circus elephant trainer. Neil Hamilton worked in the assembling department of the Ford factory in Detroit. Walter Long was a butcher in Menominee, Mich. The handsome Bull Montana, now a successful movie actor, was a New York ice man.

Richard Arlen, well-known leading man, was a motorcycle delivery man in Los Angeles, and even Erich von Stroheim, the director, did manual labor for the railroads in California.

Leading men are getting scarcer every year. Marshall Neilan, film director, declared. As soon as they become the vogue they are put into the star class and then we can't get them to support any of our feminine stars.

It's about time to make a new crop of leading men. The business of casting a picture these days is getting harder and harder because of the lack of them.

The phenomenal success of "The Cohens and the Kellys" and the stage play "Abie's Irish Rose" has prompted another picture with a somewhat similar theme. The picture is "Private Izzy Murphy," with George Jessel, New York musical comedy star, in the leading role. Upon the completion of the picture Jessel will leave for Boston to open an engagement of his play "The Jazz Singer."

"Everything within the compass of a high board fence" is the motto of the modern movie studios.

More and more studios are attempting to eliminate unnecessary location trips, which are always expensive, even if to a point somewhere within the city.

The interior of the new 26 acre Paramount lot is finished in a phantasmagoria of architectural styles. There is Spanish, old English, Dutch, Moorish, Byzantine and Cathedral Gothic. There are doorways and windows of all varieties.

The studio hopes to eliminate many "location" trips in this manner. With a lawn and hedges facing the interior of the building it is possible to take almost any kind of an outdoor scene against almost any kind of a background.

Harry Langdon, film comedian, worked 38 nights in making "The Strong Man," his present starring vehicle. This is a nocturnal comedy record.

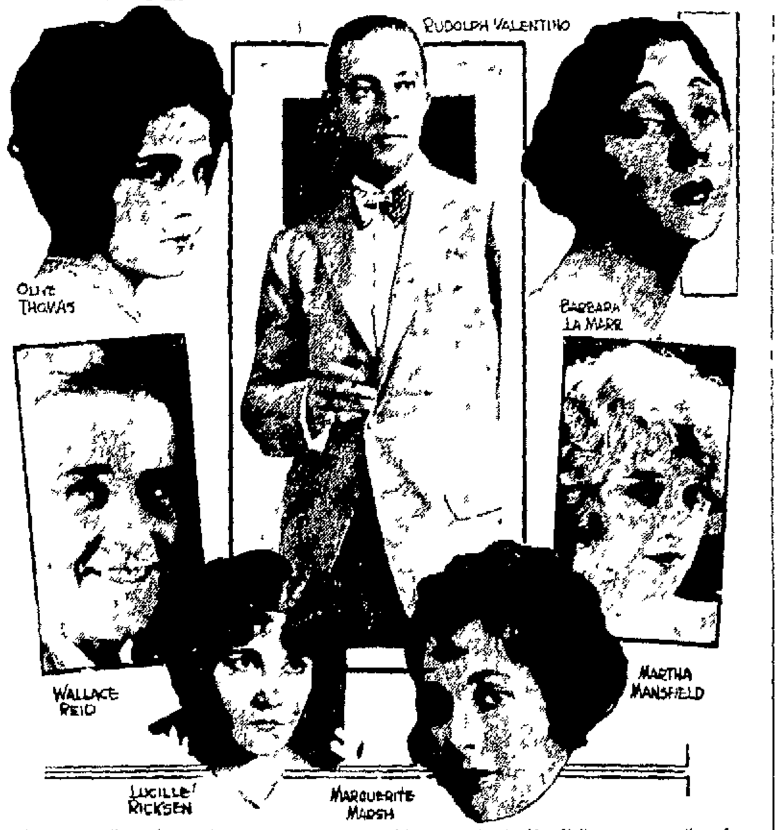
WHO'LL BE NEXT TO JOIN RANKS OF FILM DEAD?



Who will be the next film celebrity to answer the Great Director's order "cut"? Hollywood during these days while the shock of Valentino's death still is fresh feels the question is one that comes close to every studio. Within the last few years death has exacted a heavy toll from the films. Among those who were stricken down at the peak of their careers were Barbara LaMarr, as the result of a breakdown; Lucille Ricksen, who died at 17; Martha Mansfield, burned to death while on location; Wallace Reid, who died making a brave fight against the power of drugs; Marguerite Marsh, a pneumonia victim, and Olive Thomas, at 22, killed by poisoning in Paris.

Labor Day

Labor day which will be very generally celebrated throughout the United States and Canada next Monday was given its name forty five years ago but it was not until three years later that it was decided to celebrate the first Monday in September annually as Labor day

The first Monday in September 1881 the Knights of Labor who were holding their general assembly in New York City put on their first parade in which 20 000 members took part Master Workman Terence V Powderly who at one time was a resident of our neighboring city of Galion and the other officers of the organization reviewed the parade from a stand erected in Union square Among others with him were General Worthy Foreman Griffiths and Robert Price a coal miner member of the assembly After watching the parade for a time Price slapped Griffiths upon the back and exclaimed Well Jack this is Labor day all right isn't it? The term was overheard by Secretary George K Lloyd of the New York Central Labor union who introduced a resolution in his union setting apart the first Monday in September as a day on which to celebrate the progress made by labor He carried his resolution to the New York general assembly While it was pending therein Oregon with less than a thousand trade unionists legislated a Labor day New York with 300 000 unionists was the second state to set apart the day and when the assembly met again in New York City in 1884 it was decided to set apart the first Monday of each September for the celebration of the day wherever union labor was represented throughout the land It is now a general holiday in virtually all of the states of the union in the District of Columbia and in Alaska and throughout the Dominion of Canada

In the early nineties the Knights of Labor having ceased to be a controlling factor in the labor world the American Federation of Labor which had been organized in 1881 began to take on new life Year by year it has increased its influence and today it embraces over a hundred national and international unions and has an aggregate membership in excess of 4 500 000

Today the antagonism which for long years existed between capital and labor has largely disappeared Each recognizes the fact that the other has rights and that one is dependent upon the other Each recognizes the fact that a mutuality of interest exists and there is a spirit of cooperation today such as never obtained before

Not Ready for Independence

[illegible] was sent as the [illegible] of President Coolidge [illegible] to develop facts [illegible] independence [illegible]

[illegible] made [illegible] to the effect that [illegible] independence [illegible] years ago [illegible] upon the [illegible] for the [illegible] he would [illegible] to save [illegible] such power or [illegible] cases of Cuba and [illegible] parallel Cuba is a small island near a hand The Philippines [illegible] extend over 1 100 miles north and south and [illegible] miles east and west and [illegible] far away That we would protect them from aggression having given them independence is not to be contemplated That would be [illegible] marrying trouble

Another phase of the situation which has been brought out is that the Moros who are [illegible] religion from the majority of the [illegible] have [illegible] protest against the withdrawal of the control and protection of the United States It will be [illegible] of an un[illegible] for those who champion our immediate withdrawal from the islands on the ground that we have no right to exercise authority over the Filipinos against their will to justify our turning the Moros over to the Filipino government against their will and expressed protest

And there is another reason why Philippine independence may be long delayed contrary as it may be to that a bit of a truism of which [illegible] and that is that it has been demonstrated that rubber may be successfully grown in the islands

In a recent interview Colonel Thompson said that the success of the Basilan rubber plantation convinced him that a rubber industry could be developed in the Philippines which would make the United States independent of any foreign rubber control and keep the prices of automobile tires and other rubber goods [illegible] by the American people within reasonable limits

According to the department of commerce 1 000 000 acres in Mindanao Basilan and the Sulu archipelago are available for rubber cultivation This in time would provide the United States with more than one half our rubber needs The climate is said to be as favorable as in Malay Sumatra and elsewhere in the Middle East where most of the world's rubber is now produced

Colonel Thompson states that from what he has seen of the Filipino laboring class he is very much impressed with its physical vigor skill and willingness to work The great need he says is capital if the Philippines are to produce rubber in large quantities in the near future I have found many Filipinos eager to attract American capital for rubber development under the restrictions that at present prevent foreign exploitation

No all things considered the Filipinos are hardly justified in anticipating independence for some time to come

We hadn't the faintest conception of the density of New Jersey's population till the witnesses on the scene at the time of the murder of Hall and his choir singer friend began to bob up

There may be method after all in the apparent madness of the Bellaire jeweler who has closed his shop for a week or two and gone up to Canada to enjoy the Dominion's beer rather than drink poisoned whisky at home Who can blame him for preferring life to [illegible]?

Now that he is settled down at home again it may be pointed out that there is nothing foolish about Gertrude Ederle She didn't attempt to swim back home for the exercise it might afford

Governor Donahey has ordered an inquiry into two unsolved murders in Vinton county It is beginning to look as though some of our prosecutors labor under the impression that the matter of investigating crime in the counties is a matter for executive action There is far too great a tendency on the part of prosecutors it is apparent to lay down on their jobs

It's a bit hard to see where the Irving Berlins are going to get opportunity for the pursuit of happiness if they have to face a battery of cameras every time they stick their [illegible] outdoors

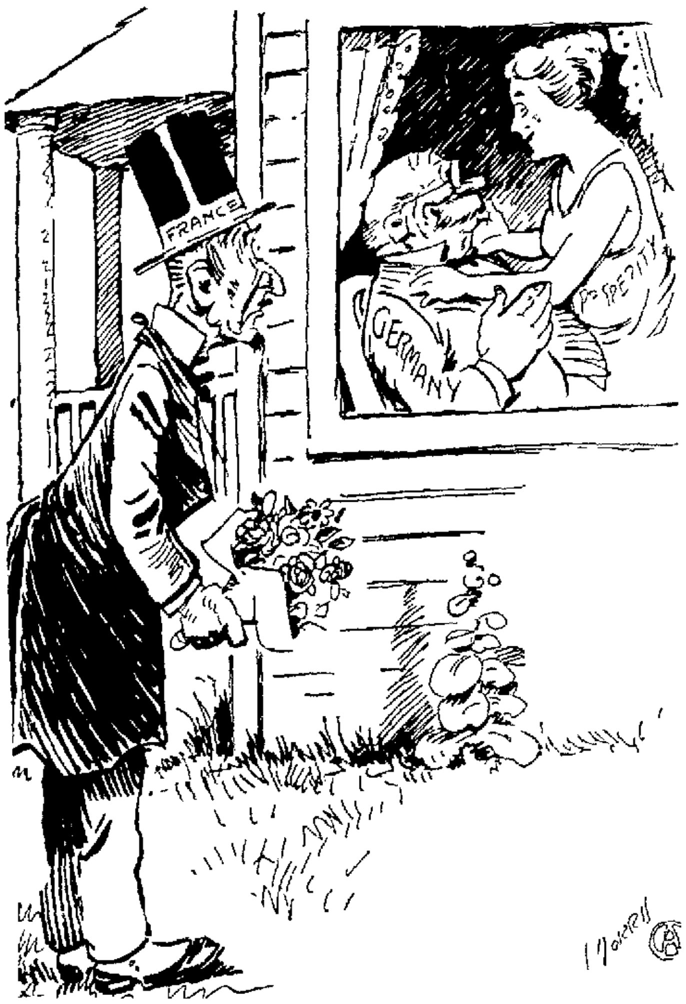
The Columbus [illegible] quotes a candidate as saying a good [illegible] all the [illegible] getting votes Come to think of it we have known a number of [illegible] offices

Marion is considering the question of inviting the Kiwanians to hold their state convention here says the Newark American Tribune but the more timid believe that the [illegible] is [illegible] entertain the thousand or more delegates that will be present [illegible] which has [illegible] thousands [illegible] could [illegible] the [illegible] of a mere thousand or two [illegible] make us laugh

As returns are brought in [illegible] American [illegible] begin to look as though [illegible]

Though Mr [illegible] Carde [illegible] to get [illegible] out of the [illegible] not [illegible] agent [illegible] the remains of his [illegible] half column write [illegible] in the [illegible] dabble [illegible] at Cannes

SOMEBODY LOVES A FAT MAN.



Slow Degeneration of Brain Tissue

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D

United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health New York City

It is a wonder that the brain and nerves do not suffer more than they do from disease But [illegible] as they are they can withstand most assaults However the battering of worry late hours loss of sleep wrong eating and other bad habits must and do result in serious impairment in action and sometimes in complete derangement of the function of the brain and nervous system

General paresis and general paralysis of the insane are names given a disease which was unknown a century ago Today it is all too frequently met

One out of ten inmates in every insane asylum is the victim of general paresis or G P [illegible] as the doctors call it

In this disease there is slow degeneration of the brain substance It actually becomes smaller and loses in weight The spinal cord and all the nerves are affected in a similar way

The [illegible] for [illegible] engagements and neglects his business He talks at a great rate He ornaments the sky of his fancy with the rainbow of [illegible] He may have delusions and fancy all sorts of strange things

When you discover peculiar and unusual mental symptoms in yourself or a member of your family you should see the family doctor Don't know[illegible] [illegible] the condition It may be of no consequence whatever but even if it is early attention may relieve it General paresis for instance is [illegible] a fundamental disease which takes at the beginning may be overcome The longer it is neglected the more helpless the patient

This disease used to be counted among the [illegible] conditions With improved methods of treatment it is looked upon far more favorably A [illegible] has added to proper medication if prescribed early enough give hope [illegible]

Who's Who and Why

JOSEPH STALIN

Joseph Stalin has become almost over[illegible] the uncrowned dictator of Russia In place of the triumvirate — Stalin Zinoviev and Kamenev—that took over the reins when Lenine passed there now reins a single man He is secretary general of the Commun[illegible] party and as such he is the omnipotent boss of Russia's ruler

Stalin is a Georgian by birth Tall thin slender dark eyed he is a typical representative of this hot headed Caucasion race His real name is Dzhugashvili Stalin was one of the aliases he assumed to conceal his real identity from the imperial police His long revolutionary career testifies to his undeniable courage He was five times arrested and exiled by the imperial police and five times he fled from exile risking his life struggling against overwhelming odds

Stalin has been devoted to the cause of communism since he was a boy of seventeen when [illegible] expelled from a religious seminary at Tiflis for his radical affiliations His father had sent him there to study for the priesthood Six years later he had achieved prominence in party circles and had been appointed to a committee that directed the activities of the Social Democratic party later to split into the Menshevik and Bolshevik groups It was then that he was first captured by the police and sent to Siberia for three years of exile

In 1904 he escaped from Siberia and became one of the active party leaders in the Caucasus region—agitating organizing and writing revolutionary pamphlets Four years later he was again captured by the police After another escape and another arrest he eluded the authorities again and was appointed to the central executive committee of the Bolshevik party at Petrograd More arrests and more exile followed until finally when the revolution of 1917 came he was free of the [illegible] the law and entered at once into the [illegible] circle of the new rulers of Russia

He [illegible] about the best talker that [illegible] up from behind a free meal He told me the following one on the state of Arizona

A fellow who had been out there and got broke and had to stay longer than he thought only had about one lone dollar and he went into a restaurant and the waiter come up to him and said sage hen It was the [illegible] dirt the day and he thought of course it would be taken by the customer

What's sage hen? asked the [illegible] the lone buck

It's like prairie chicken They [illegible] among the sage brush

Has it got wings? asked the old [illegible] in [illegible] Arizona

Yes replied the waiter

Well then I don't want [illegible] Any bird [illegible] got wings and [illegible] in Arizona [illegible] want to eat such a crazy thing —C[illegible] 1926

By EDNA DUTTON

IT must be wonderful to be famous [illegible] the [illegible] named for [illegible] nice things happen [illegible] It seems to be [illegible] breaking the record [illegible] anything [illegible] to break [illegible]

WITH the advent of September [illegible] the [illegible] oyster Whether a decree of [illegible] fact it seems this particular species of sea food is to be eaten only in months whose names contain the letter [illegible] My own private opinion is that [illegible] wants to eat oysters at any time [illegible] cold or at least coolish was here I can't imagine any one hankering for a bowl of oyster soup a platter of fried oysters or even a cocktail on the Fourth of July menu

Be that as it may the real sales talk [illegible] the clams cousin so far as I am concerned is that it is nourishing [illegible] attending Of course I am glad to know that the oysters are harvested and shipped under health regulations and are safe as milk or celery easily digested rich in vitamin 200 times greater in iodine content than eggs milk or beefsteak

BREAKFASTS in Marion restaurants are mighty interesting Really it's worth the time to come down and line with us some morning Right now there are lots of tourists and they tell you a lot without even engaging in conversation If they are just setting out on their trip my but the world looks rosy They talk and laugh [illegible] date on the mileage to be made that particular day or on how the folks are going to take the surprise visit And what breakfasts Melon eggs and bacon or ham and eggs toast potatoes coffee But if they are coming home Well home is the one objective and the quickest way there is the best and breakfast is something to get over with as quickly as possible Toast and coffee with perhaps a dish of cereal There seems to be nothing to talk about unless there happens to be children in the party and they keep the conversation alive by wanting something they shouldn't have

Safety at the crossing

Travel by railroad is only a third as hazardous as it was thirteen years ago The number of passenger fatalities was reduced from 441 in 1913 to 175 in 1925 Railway employment, likewise is only a third as hazardous as thirteen years ago The number of employee fatalities was reduced from 3 715 in 1913 to 1 523 in 1925

The New York Central Lines were among the pioneers in the promotion of organized safety work in the United States Carrying 10 per cent of the passengers and having nearly 10 per cent of the total number of railroad employees this transportation system has contributed substantially to this remarkable safety achievement which was largely the result of a cooperative spirit obtaining between employer and employee

Crossing accidents present a new problem Last year 32 per cent of these accidents were due to automobiles running into the side of trains A large majority occurred in daylight where the approaching train could be seen and at crossings in the locality where the driver resided

Full cooperation on the part of motorists will reduce crossing accidents to a small number Approach crossings prepared to stop and know that the way is clear before attempting to cross.

English Can't Fool Cal, He's Out for Money, Rogers Says

Will Reveals How British Kill Grouse

Unable To Stand Music of Bagpipes and Fly at Guns

BY WILL ROGERS

All I know is just what I read in the papers and what I see. It is the open season over in Europe for Grouse ... but they shoot them out of their ... Everybody over here goes up for what they call the season. The King has gone means that everybody must go ... won't get any nearer the ... they do a Grouse when they ... the same. It's a great ... ent Castles up there. Of ... can rent a Cottage or a ... the class of Grouse that fly ... very low grade. They ... feeling. But if you have a ... then the elite among the ... are there.

... their work it is they have ... that go and drive the birds ... they do it for a fee. Harty ... the contract to furnish the ... Now you get a nice big ... comfortable chair and sit out in ... the Castle and as they drive ... you shoot at them. If you ... why the Scotchmen for an extra fee will drive the Birds into ... Hall of the Castle and ... take a few shots at em. It is great exercise this ... That is it is for the ... Now in case you can't hit a ... too small why they will ... up a deer and you can either ... get it whichever you like ... all depends on how ... the Drivers are. If they will ... them close enough say up ... barrels length an ... can sometimes get enough for supper. But otherwise the Scotchmen ... to kill some with a stick for ... The whole industry is sponsored by the Ammunition Companies.

Terrible Bagpipes

Now the Birds know they are going to be killed and you would think they would know better than to fly by where the guns are. But the way they do it is ... the Scotchmen take the Scotch bagpipes down in the brush with them and play the pipes and when the Birds hear the Bagpipes they will fly right into the mouth of the gun purposely. A suicide to keep from hearing Bagpipes. When they are killed the Bird ... can always bring in a verdict of justifiable homicide. The whole ... to me is there is not more ... shot. I think they put cotton in the Hunters ears.

MY WORD! WHAT A ROTTEN SHOT!
BANG BANG!
I NEARLY HIT ONE ONCE
SHOO!
SAFETY FIRST
DOG GONE THOSE BAGPIPES!

As they drive them by you shoot at them

Well Grouse, Golf and bare knees are Scotland's big Industries. They are great folk though and they don't argue over the debt settlement and that is a great thing in their favor.

Barney Baruch I saw and had a talk to. He was going up in Scotland to occupy a Castle during this humane Society week of Grouse destroying. Barney said the way he shoots these Grouse is that he names them as they are flying toward him after some prominent Republican and that with names like that he never misses. One named Coolidge got away once but he says he will get him the next time. I had a long talk with him. He had just seen Clemenceau over in France but he says he did not dictate that letter that Clemenceau wrote to Mr Coolidge. He told me that he only told him what to put in it and gave him the address and a stamp.

All Going Over

I guess there are more Democrats here than there are over home. Senator Caraway and Pat Harrison were here and I just read a speech of Jimmy Cox's that he delivered on the boat coming over. Very tactful toward Europe, they all are on the way over here. Mellon has been down with Mussolini. I will just about have to loan him some money to get back on.

Well you know I told you about going broke and had to go to work in a Picture here in London. I got worse off than that. I had to go to work on the stage too. I was sitting around nights and wasn't doing anything so I thought I will try my little riddles out on a London audience so I went on at Mr Charles Cochran's Revue at the London Pavilion. Well we had quite a night there the opening night. All the Americans were there to help keep the Englishman off of me and were all wondering just how the English would take my nonsense. Well I want to tell you before we go any further that I never saw a better audience in my life.

Slang Not Humor

All the stuff I had on International affairs they knew all about and they got every Gag I had. When a Gag didn't get much of a laugh it was because it wasn't very funny. So I certainly don't want to hear the old remark when I get back home that the British haven't any humor. They got a lot of humor. Where some of our people have got that idea is because they have come over here and tried to spring a lot of slang expressions. Well slang is not humor and never will be. Naturally they didn't get it. They could do the same with us. They have just as much slang as we have and naturally we don't get theirs either.

But you talk to them about something that they know something about and they know something about everything that has been in the papers. For I really believe they read more than we do. That is they read more than the big City people at home do. Not any more than the Smaller Towns or Country people do. But you see over here when they pay 2 pennies for a paper it was bought to read and they want to get their money's worth and they look over every little nook and corner of it. And they sure can take a joke on themselves too. In fact they don't want you to compliment them. They have never had any compliments and they are not used to them.

Cal Out for Jack

I used a lot of stuff joking them about the debts. Told them they were the first Nation to pay us and then the first one to put up a Howl about it afterwards. But that was the Papers over here. That was not the people so much themselves. But even the papers have about quit yipping now. They saw they couldn't make any impression on Calvin. That old Boy is out for the Jack and if you owe him you better get ready to start digging up.

I introduced people in the audience and that was new to an English audience. I had quite an array of old friends. Who do you think was there? Why not a soul but our old American Sporting Sweetheart Sir Thomas Lipton the fellow with the commodity that colors up perfectly good water. Well he got up and made a very nice little speech. I thought maybe he would give me a Yacht but he didn't. They like him over here a lot too. Then there was Lord Dewar the great After Dinner Speaker and maker of Soth Whiskey. Whiskey which sells in America. He told me he wouldn't have prohibition go out in America for anything. Well he gabbed very pleasantly for us too and then Miss Dorothy Gish or rather Mrs. James Rennie. Rennie is an Actor and she keeps him working so I think that is what she counts for their still being married. Earl Hopping, the great American Polo Player and Irving Berlin was with us and had to bow to the howling multitudes. The Prince was in night before last. I had some Gags about him, but I didn't ask him to work with me. They take this Royalty on the level over here. I will be over there bothering you all again pretty soon. Some towns have even gone so far as to book me back again next fall. I sure will have all the Scandal for you. How is Cal getting along. Is he slipping or not. I told Al Smith all the time he ought to be an Athiest and then he would be considered competent. They tell me votes is pretty good price over there now. I want to get over to try and sell mine a few times. Well I will meet you all in Tulsa.

"GLITTER"

A STORY OF YOUTH AND LOVE

BY KATHARINE BRUSH

BOOK FOUR

CHAPTER II

The last car droned down the drive and gnawed into the reddening sunrise. Jock at the window watched it until it disappeared, after that he watched the place where it had been. From ... [illegible] ... he could be normal ... [illegible] ... Cigars ... their boxes. Glasses ... gather on a tray ... The scrape of chairs. The ... whimper of a wall safe swinging open on its hinges swinging shut again. Then ... feet ...

And then ... He left the window and ... confronted his mother.

"Oh," she said. "Don't ... [illegible] ... death."

... and she twinkled up at him ... urchin ... "Hello ... I'd ... to ... you," he said.

"Ho you're not big enough."

Giggling at this absurdity they ascended the stairs together. "I hope you're not in a hurry to get to bed," Mrs. Hamill remarked en route "because I have a lot of things I want to say."

"Hum. Just try to get me to bed till you've said em."

But when they were established in Mrs. Hamill's dressing room, she stretched at full length on a wistaria taffeta sofa, Jock seated near in a wistaria chair ... incongruous to him as lace would be on a football jersey, their cheerfulness dropped from them and they were grave and constrained. He spoke first after a protracted wait.

"Maybe you'd like to go to bed yourself, mother. You must be dog tired. We can talk it over in the morning—I mean later—if you'd rather."

"I wouldn't rather," said Mrs. Hamill. "I want to talk it over now."

Silently, introspectively, "Twelve years—and now I don't even want to wait a minute——"

Jock lunged forward in his chair gripping its arms. "Do you mean to say you've been doing this——" The break in his sentence encompassed all the things he had witnessed since he entered the house—for twelve years.

Mrs. Hamill nodded. "Ever since a year or two after your father died. —he didn't leave any money Jock. Not a cent. I've always told you he did but he didn't. We were pitifully poor when he was alive—you don't remember those days do you? Do you remember anything at all about your father?"

"A little," Jock answered. "That he liked baseball—funny a detail like that should stick in my craw—and that he was all the time writing at a desk. I have a vague idea what he looked like too but perhaps I got that from pictures."

"Probably. You were only eight. Well he was a dear and splendid person, your father, but dreamy, unpractical—a poet with everything that the term is always supposed to mean and usually doesn't." She contemplated Jock with musing eyes. "You're his son of course, dear, not mine. You have his temperament—most sedulously coated over with undergraduate varnish, but it's there."

Jock would have repudiated this as he perversely did any such penetrative reference, but he saw that his mother was not really thinking of him at all except as the twig of the tree. So he said nothing, waiting with eagerness. These facts about his father were impressing him enormously. "Keys to me," he told himself.

Mrs. Hamill continued. "It is odd your recalling about baseball because I think baseball was absolutely the only usual, rational, man-in-the-street thing that ever interested him. Was he—but no matter. The point I'm getting at is he wasn't the sort who ever made money or ever would have. When he died he left me with you to bring up and nothing whatever to do it on—but nerve."

She sat upright and rid her feet of their slippers in two quick kicks, muttering "Drat the things!" so humanly that Jock barely suppressed a shout of laughter. He sent an affectionate glance after her as she padded into the adjoining room. Such a peach!—pretty as a picture and sweet and regular. ... He sought yet another word and found it when he saw her re-enter. Dauntless. That was it.

She had changed into a silver brocaded robe trimmed in bands of fur and silver mules clung to her feet. She relaxed on the sofa once more, sighing happily. "Pardon the digression, Jock, but very short skirts in the morning are a very special abomination. Let's see, where was I? Oh. About Saunders, I'm sure."

"You must have skipped something," Jock objected. "Where did Uncle Link come in?"

"He comes in now. I am—I'm skipping a lot of it my dear because it's late and you say you have something to tell me after I've finished and if we expect to sleep at all today I'll have to make it a short synopsis. We're the rest of ... fill in the blanks. Also ... Saunders. He was an old flame of mine——"

"Sure, I always guessed that."

"... unfair! Well he was ... when I married your father he told me if he could ever ... anything ... I was to call on him ... of the jilted lover. ... probably the only one in history who ever really meant it but he ... Two years after your father died I did call on him in my extremity and he set me up in this business. Lent me the money to buy this house, and all its fixtures and got men he knew in New York into the habit of coming out here. We really have a quite wonderful clientele, Jock. Some of the names would astound you. Every newcomer is introduced and sponsored as though it's to a Blue Blooded club and has to present all the credentials you can think of——with the possible exception of a letter from his clergyman. We've been extremely cautious. And I've acquired a tidy fortune. I was able to pay Saunders back in full in five years and the rest has gone into investments or towards your schooling—what's the matter, Jockey?"

"Nothing. Only I must be God's dumbest white creature."

Yvonne, then Eunice shadowed his mind. "Damn it I never see anything until somebody beats it in!" he lamented.

Mrs. Hamill lay still fondling with her eyes the line of the big frame, the symmetry of the black bent head.

"Don't say you were very dumb," she suggested. "Say that I was very clever. I went to the most exaggerated lengths to keep all this a secret from you. Remember the time camp closed unexpectedly on account of the measles and you wired me you'd be home about nine o'clock that night. The wire reached me at seven. I never put in such a two hours in my life! But by the time you got here every last trace was locked away down cellar and Bennett was stationed behind a tree at the foot of the driveway to shoo off the cars, and your mother was spending a quiet evening in the home—as mothers should! And if you'd given me the slightest warning tonight——"

"But you must have known I'd get hep sometime!" Jock broke in. "Balmy as I am it was bound to come some time. What did you expect to do after I graduated? Board me out, or something?"

"I expected to retire," said Mrs. Hamill. "Permanently. In fact I've already made preparations to shut up shop in another month or so. I can do it. I've saved enough we'll never starve. And I was sanguine enough to hope that you'd never be any the wiser."

"What do you mean, we'll never starve?" cried Jock. "Do you think you're going to keep on paying my way till I'm toothless? Not any! I'm going to jump college and I'm going to work." And he wound up, "I'm going to do it right now!"

"Now?"

"Tomorrow. Sooner the better. No part of this degree stuff. It's all rumor anyway, doesn't amount to a hoot whether a fellow's got one or not in the long run. That's one reason I wanted to talk to you, mother. I wanted to ask you if you minded. Now—" His white teeth shone in quick gaiety. "Now I'm not asking, I'm announcing! Seems to me it's just about time I took you in hand!

"I'll tell you," he said, sobering, "what my reaction to this thing is. Of course at first I was knocked cold. I'd never even dreamed. And I didn't like it, not a little bit. Gambling as an indoor sport is a great thing, and can have my month's allowance any time, but gambling as a business—my mother's business—well, that gripes me. It's so beneath you! You know that. Like a duchess acting as barmaid——"

"Thanks!" interjected Mrs. Hamill weakly.

"And not only that but—well look what a wet smack I turned out to be! Here I am twenty three years old in a ... or two—I ought to have been supporting you for the past six years at least, instead of loafing around like a bloated plutocrat on money you had to make—this way—" He peered at her curiously. "Say, whatever did possess you to pick this way, mother?"

"Oh—that's a long story. I've always liked men and liked cards. ... it was not without its appeal."

"Well," Jock resumed after a meditative ... "at any rate it's all over now. If you think I'm going to stick in college even a day longer and let you go on ... this—this muddled up dive that's kept me there, you're crazy. That's all. ... brushed ... Mrs. Hamill is ... professional career. Absolutely ..."

"I won't argue."

"You better not, lady."

"I won't argue," repeated Mrs. Hamill unbendingly. "I suppose I should but I'm too sleepy. As far as my professional career is concerned I'll be glad enough to give that over. It never was as much fun as I thought it would be—I'd rather play myself than minister to other players. Besides I was on the point of giving it up anyway. Of course there isn't an atom of sense in your leaving college now with only a few months to go. But on the other hand I don't know that there's any particular sense in your staying ... in the bank to keep ... indefinitely without ... lifting a finger. If that's what is there ... I'll let you make your own decision. If you honestly think you'll never miss that ... after your name I'm satisfied."

"Check," exclaimed Jock and rising went ... his mother's hand with vigor. "The eighth wonder of the world—a very noble woman!"

This little ceremony was followed by a pause. Mrs. Hamill looking up saw that Jock's face was solemn again and that his troubled brown eyes were fixed on space. At length she interrogated him, "Yes, dearest?"

"Oh, I was just thinking."

He did not reveal to her all that he had been thinking. It involved himself, but more definitely it involved Yvonne and things about Yvonne that could not now nor at any time bear revelation. He said merely, "It's funny about money. The things people do to get it. Is it so important? I've never known what it was like to be without it so of course I'm not qualified to judge but it's got me stumped sometimes. I feel like saying what is this money thing about all the time?" He shook his head. "Darned if I can understand it."

"No." Mrs. Hamill's voice was silky soft. "Of course not, dear. You couldn't. Being Jerry's son."

There was no reproach in the words. But it came to Jock that his own words must have sounded harsh ... under the circumstances. He essayed amendment. "I don't mean about you, mother. You've been simply great. You did all this for me. I know that—and don't think I don't appreciate it. Gee I should say I do appreciate it! But what I meant—"

His mind put Yvonne aside loyally, protectively, and seized upon Eunice.

"For instance this. I wrote you about Brad Hathaway, didn't I? Well I didn't tell you what it was that ... him about himself and about his wife. I've never told any of this to a living soul, but I'm about to spill the whole rotten thing—it's primarily what I chased down here to tell you and ask your advice about. You're not too sleepy, are you? Good. Then listen! And tell me what in time I'm going to do."

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

BOTHERING HIM

I was watching Dicky closely as he escorted his niece into our apartment living room and I saw him start ... as he caught sight of the vases ... yellow roses ... made the room look as if he felt ... He said nothing however, but I saw him edge near to one of the vases holding the immense blossoms and scrutinize them closely, and I knew he was mentally appraising them with a sure and critical knowledge.

There was ... on Mary's tongue however, and her exclamations of delight over them were only stilled by Junior's excited summons to "come see your own room, Mary. These roses are nothing to what you've got."

I made the mental comment that all masculine humans, even little ones, were alike in their preference for bright colors, the roses which I had allotted to Mary being pink. Then Dicky picked up Mary's bags and we ascended to her room on the third floor and I ... an appreciative silence to her almost hysterical enthusiasm over her new quarters and the wonderful roses in all shades of pink which apparently ran riot over mantel, bookcases and table.

Madge Explains the Roses

"Where did you get them?" she kept repeating after she had exhausted her adjectives concerning the really lovely room we had planned for her.

"Mr. Veritzen sent them to welcome you home," I said at last, furious that I could not keep my voice entirely nonchalant and conscious that Dicky's eyes were fixed upon me. "The card is downstairs somewhere. I'll get it for you when we go down."

"Isn't he the duckiest thing?" she exclaimed. "Did he send those yellow ones in the living room, too?"

I nodded and Junior piped in excitedly.

"There are lots more," he said. "You should see the ones we have in our room, Aunt Katherine and me. And ... in a big jar in the bathroom are Aunt Lillian's great big red ones. And Katie has one of each kind. Only my mamma and my daddy haven't any in their room."

"Why haven't you any in my daddy's room ...?" he asked me ... while I felt a primitive ... slipper for which my ... me strangely.

Lillian Incites Dicky's Jealousy

It ... saved me the necessity for a reply.

"... knows ... like ..." ... gravely. "I'd rather have ... secured his ... finally ... chrysanthemums. And your mother has the red ones in the living room."

Junior nodded evidently satisfied as to my portion but still troubled concerning his father.

"Maybe Mr. Veritzen would send you some santhemums," he said hopefully and I think we were all relieved at the chance to laugh which his question gave us.

"I'll speak to Mr. Veritzen about it, Junior," Lillian said with a glint in her eyes which told me that she was ... the chance to ... Dicky. Suddenly the truth flashed upon me.

She was deliberately trying to make Dicky jealous of my professional association with Philip Veritzen!

But why?

Even as I asked the question I knew the answer.

She thought that arousing my husband's jealousy concerning me would counteract the effect of Edith Fairfax's influence over him.

COULD NOT PUT ON HER SHOES

Mrs. Daugherty Was so Weak

In a little town of the Middle West, was a discouraged woman. For four months she had been in such poor health that she could not stoop to put on her own shoes. Unable to do her work, unable to go out of doors or enjoy a friendly chat with her neighbors, life seemed dark indeed to Mrs Daugherty.

Then one day, a booklet was left at her front door. Idly she turned the pages. Soon she was reading with quickened interest. The little booklet was filled with letters from women in conditions similar to hers who had found better health by taking Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I began taking the Vegetable Compound," Mrs Daugherty writes, "and after I took the third bottle, I found relief. I am on my eleventh bottle and I don't have that trouble any more, and feel like a different woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to everyone I see who has trouble like mine. I am willing to answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—MRS. ED. DAUGHERTY, 1308 Orchard Ave., Muscatine, Iowa

DONAHEY REQUESTED TO OUST TRUAX AS MANAGER

Lions Club Blame for Loss of Children's Program, Protests Heard

Columbus Sept 4 Today is the last day of the state fair. The real farm program is featured by a list of the races scheduled for the afternoon.

Fair officials predicted that attendance Friday totaled 41,000 or 1,000 more than the same day of last year's state fair.

Governor Vic Donahey today had under consideration a request of the Lions Club of Columbus that Charles V Truax state director of agriculture be removed as manager of the state fair.

Club members claimed that more than 1,000 local school children together with their mothers and friends were disappointed because of inability to carry on a children's program at the fair. The program was arranged by members of the club and other local residents. Truax was blamed for the situation.

Truax voiced regret and blamed live stock exhibitors and horsemen for the trouble. He said they disregarded his plans for carrying out the children's program in the Coliseum and on the race track.

Various exhibitors at the fair also censured Truax claiming orders relative to exhibitors passes were frequently changed and that efforts were made by Truax to prevent distribution of advertising novelties when contracts signed by Truax and the exhibitors provided for such distribution.

Prospect Residents Believe Town One of Healthiest Municipalities in State Because of Mineral Waters

Marion County Village Offers Every Convenience for Comfortable Living

BY GILMORE HIETT
State Editor, The Star

THE residents of Prospect contend their village the healthiest, or one of the healthiest municipalities in the state of Ohio.

The claim is not idle boast. In fact visitors to that town need but listen a few minutes and they hear related by the natives stories of health known only to them.

Prospect men and women are well into their allotted three score and ten years without apparent effort. Doctors there count up on the expert treatment of unusual ailments for business with a low percentage of common sicknesses on record. Official statistic figures will convince those that scan them that to be reared in Prospect is assurance of being robust, healthy and with exceptional athletic prowess.

The villagers say it is the water. That may be.

The community has never known the romance, tragedy and what not that goes with the conventional town pump. It has never had a pump. Drinking water is procured from a flowing well located at the center of the business district. The quality of its taste is often questioned by newcomers but the natives swear by it. The principal mineral content is sulphur. State health officials have sought at regular intervals to declare the water both sanitary and healthful. The humorously inclined style the well as the Fountain of Youth. The appropriateness of that title is doubted less after a study of the town's death records.

Five Wells

There are said to be no less than five other flowing wells of varying mineral content within a radius of a mile.

The water is only one of a score of Prospect's attributes. Every facility for comfortable living is available in this town of 1,000 inhabitants. It is located within a few miles of two direct improved state highways being west of the Marion Delaware Columbus rd and east of the Marion Marysville rd. It is connected with both Delaware and Marion by direct routes the latter named being a paved highway. The Hocking Valley railroad and the C D & M Electric routes offer additional transportation facilities.

Evidencing the progressive spirit of the community are three miles of paved streets passing through the business and residential section.

Modern School

There are four churches in Prospect and a modern public school building which offers courses of first rank schools in both Senior and Junior highs. The elementary grades are also housed in the one building.

E. H. Brown is the superintendent of schools. His record reveals that he is interested in the recreational side of school life as well as study. His coaching was largely responsible for the success of Warren "Pete" Anson and Guy Johnson Prospect High students who made remarkable showings in state scholastic field meets last spring.

There is an approximate total enrollment of 300 students in the school.

The one industry of Prospect of consequence is the Prospect Fire Engine Co manufacturers of fire fighting equipment. In a recent interview officials of the company stated that a yearly business of $100,000 was being done at the plant. The company secretary H. L. Thomas is also mayor of the town.

The above photograph of Main st discloses but a small portion of the retail business district.

Sanatarium

The nationally known Gast Cancer Sanatarium is located at Prospect. It is operated by G. P. Gast who for 15 years has specialized in the treatment of cancers. Facilities at the sanitarium are adequate to care for thirty patients. The institution has been in existence for 11 years. Medicines used in the Gast cancer treatments are sent to all parts of the world.

A man prominent in the national commercial circle who maintains his residence at Prospect is F. J. Watkins president of the Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Corporation Cleveland.

Vernon M Riegel State Director of Education was superintendent of the Prospect schools 1910-11.

Included in the town's list of celebrities is Fred Keller Dix, publisher of the Prospect Monitor and a well known writer of verse. Years ago, Fred Dix was the printer's devil in the Monitor office. He wrote a poem entitled "The Country Newspaper." It was printed in scores of city dailies. Now he has fulfilled his desire expressed in the poem and purchased the country weekly. He hopes to soon publish a book containing the most popular of his works.

1913 Flood

During the flood of 1913 news from Prospect was given prominence in all publications throughout the middle west. The town was one of the hardest hit of its size in the state. Situated on the very banks of the Scioto river it was thrown at the mercy of the raging torrent. Untiring and heroic work of rescue parties prevented loss of life. It was estimated that property damage amounted to $75,000. Forty per cent of the town's homes were damaged beyond repair. One of the bridges over the river was washed out greatly hindering rescue work.

C. J. Ruhlman 20, [illegible] Marion narrowly escaped drowning in the flooded section of the town. At the time he was a reporter on The Marion Tribune. He responded to a call for volunteers for rescue work issued by Rev. A. B. Woodruff a Prospect minister. The two set out in a boat. It capsized. Neither could swim. Rev. Woodruff managed to clamber atop a porch roof. Ruhlman clung to the roof unable to climb out of the water until rescued by another party of men.

Since the flood the Upper Scioto has been dredged at various points and flood dangers eliminated to considerable extent.

Plan Dam

Prospect citizens have now as their community progress goal the bettering of recreational facilities in the town. The tentative plan calls for the construction of a concrete dam across the river which will provide a suitable place for both boating and swimming. No official announcement has been made of the plan. It is expected that the construction will take place within the coming year. The dam will probably be situated near Prospect Community park one of the most popular picnicing grounds in Marion county.

WISE MEN STICK WITH HORNSBY

Easterners See Cincinnati Win but Back St. Louis Today

BY DAVIS J WALSH

New York Sept 4—Quite a few of the wise men of the east continued to day to string with the St Louis Cardinals regardless of the fact that the [illegible] locked one neatly with the chin yesterday in Cincinnati

This circumstance permitted both Reds and Pirates to pick up a full game but seemed in nowise to effect the confidence being reposed hereabouts in Hornsby's outfit

Dave Bancroft Boston manager likes them Wilbert Robinson of Brooklyn likes them So does the gent on the curb stone because the Cards have captured the popular fancy after th[illegible] manner of the Washington Senators of 1924

In fact everyone seems to like them with the possible exception of the Reds and Pirates They probably hate em

Bancroft's idea is that everything else being equal the club that hustles must win He thinks the Cardinals are that club but at the same time qualifies his statement by saying that he doesn't count the Pirates out of it The Reds he thinks will not be able to stay with the situation once they start their last swing through the East

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

New York—Eddie Anderson Wyoming featherweight won on a foul in the third round from Arnold Ryan national guard champion Eddie O'Dowd Columbus Ohio bantamweight beat Murray Layton six rounds

Syracuse—George Courtner Oklahoma middleweight knocked out Frank Moody of Great Britain in the ninth round

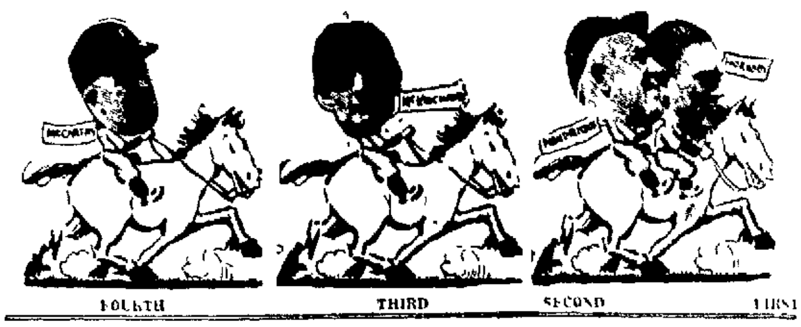
Hornsby Leads by Nose; McKechnie Spurs into Second



National Race Tightens; Reds and Pittsburgh Win

St Louis Leads Cincinnati by Less Than Single Game; Reds Are Same Distance Ahead of Pirates and May Take Lead Sunday

New York Sept 4—By defeating the Cardinals yesterday while the Pirates were knocking off the Cubs in 10 innings the Cincinnati Reds again tightened the triangular National League race for the pennant

As matters stood this morning the Cardinals led the Reds by less than a single game and Cincinnati in turn were the same distance beyond the Pirates If the Reds succeed in beating the Cards again this afternoon they will take the league lead by three points If the Reds lose the Pirates can go into second place with another victory over the Cubs

The Cleveland Indians kept in the running for the American League flag by scoring their eighth straight victory the Boston Red Sox being the victims Meantime the Yankees were getting an even break in Philadelphia their lead thus being reduced to about 3 1 2 games

The Cardinals hold on first place in the National League dwindled to one game when they lost to the Cincinnati Reds 4 to 2 Each team got only seven hits but Carl Mays pitched air tight ball in the pinches

The Giants worked off a little surplus steam and crashed out no less than seventeen runs in the short space of two innings The Braves were on the short end of the score with a meager three

Petty piled up his 15th victory of the season when his Robins defeated the Phillies 4 to 3 The game just put Petty on the sunny side of the ledger with one to the good He has lost fourteen of his pitched games

The Pirates got back in the National League pennant race by defeating the Cubs 3 to 2 in a 10 inning pitching battle

The game was won when Kaufmann weakened in the tenth after allowing only two hits in nine innings

A five run rally in the seventh inning of the second game of a double header gave the Yankees an even break with the Athletics They lost the first 7 to 2 but took the nightcap 7 to 4

The Red Sox ran their total of consecutive defeats to an ignominious 13 by dropping both games of a double header to the Senators, 3 to 2 and 5 to 1

The Cleveland Indians won their eighth straight game by defeating Detroit 9 to 1 It also was George Uhle's ninth straight victory

Sidelights on Little World's Series Games

BY CHUCK HARRISON

THE Railway Service nine won their easiest Little World's Series game Friday night from the Epworths The final score was 5 to 1 when the game was called at the end of the sixth frame on account of darkness

The game Friday night was easier than ordinary because of the fact that the Epworths were not playing at par Burson pitched hard and had enough strikeouts to win most any game but the slump was in the defense

Hitting by the Epworths was not so good either with Applegett working effectively for the Railway men

Burson started to work in the first scene after allowing the first three men clean hits Things looked good for the winners right in the first inning when McCombs Applegett and Sharrock filled the bases by making bingles

Sharrock third sacker for the Service team led last night in the error column He had a total of four to his credit

Dowler robbed McCombs of a pretty hit in the fourth when he erred McCombs drove the ball directly at Dowler who misjudged the speed of the ball because of the darkness and on account of its terrific speed He ran up too far and was forced to leap for the ball as it went over his head

Marion Is Tough

The Massillon team has nothing on the Athletics when it comes to strengthening The Marion aggregation will be well fortified At least three pitchers will be on hand for Manager [illegible] from Howard Smith late of the House of David's famous bearded team will be on hand minus the whiskers He will likely start one of the games In addition Chet Shar[illegible] and Main will be there ready to go If negotiations now pending are successful another pitcher of national reputation will also be on hand to serve them up for the Athletics

Should the Athletics enter the tournament [illegible] this fall [illegible] they will have a [illegible] the title [illegible] ardent Marion fan of [illegible] crowned semi-pro champions of Ohio One point in favor of their claim to this title is the fact that nearly every team that has faced Marion this season [illegible] depart[illegible] with stars hired for the express [illegible] Athletics while Marion [illegible] has made very few changes in its [illegible] all season

Tunney Buckles Down to Some Real Conditioning

BY FRANK L ONEIL

Stroudsburg Pa Sept 4—Leather pushing and plenty of it will feature the training of Gene Tunney today After a rest of four days the challenger for Jack Dempsey's crown will buckle down to the truly serious business of perfecting his condition The major [illegible] of ring work the road running and the bag punching will hold their place on the programme

But there will be a new drive in the boxing It must be done Tunney has obtained the services of Jimmy Delaney the St Paul light heavyweight for the last two weeks of his training here Delaney is one of the ranking men of his division and is in fighting trim himself He will be able to force Tunney to the limit Gene has surrounded himself with far better hired hands than the champion

Right now Tunney is in better condition than the champion boxing faster and with greater finesse We don't know how hard Gene is hitting for the very good reason that he seldom cuts loose When he did land good stiff wallops he immediately let up and allowed his mates to recover

NEW OAK KNOLLS HOME DIVISION OPENED TODAY

Thirty-Six Acres and 188 Lots Incuded in New Allotment

Marion's newest home addition, the Oak Knolls, Davids-st, was formally opened for the inspection of the public this afternoon by officials and salesmen of the [illegible] Realty Co., W. Center-st.

The district is located immediately south of and adjoining the Sawyer Sanitorium. A great part of the section faces Davids-st.

Thirty-six acres are included in the allotment. Each of the 188 lots in the district are 45 by 145 feet. The lots face one of the four avenues or the streets which make up the subdivision.

Salesmen of the company are using as a slogan in their campaign for lot sales "Buy a lot and we will build you a home." Special terms are given to each of the buyers, according to [illegible] Cowan, president of the company, by which he can have a house built in the same manner that he pays for the lot.

Two New Homes

Work on building has already been started and two houses are in the process of construction. The streets are expected to be oiled down in the near future.

Rebuilding of the Sawyer-rd from Prospect-pk to Davids-st, which adjoins the Oak Knolls addition, was started early this week. Section of Davids-st in front of the new allotment will be resurfaced if plans of the township trustees function.

Plans are also under way for a thoroughfare from Davids-st to the Prospect-pk. An extension across the street car tracks at a point just south of Oak Knolls will be necessary before the project can be completed.

FEW CHANGES IN REAL ESTATE DURING WEEK

Only 20 Transfers Recorded During Week, County Books Show

Only 20 real estate transfers were recorded in Marion County during the last week.

Four-fifths of the transfers involved Marion property. Two lots in Green Camp changed hands during the week, one transfer was recorded from Montgomery Township and two farms in Big Island Township have new owners.

ANOTHER NEW HOME IN VERNON HEIGHTS

This attractive Spanish type home will be built on Vernon Heights-blvd by O. W. Gamble. It will be of brick construction with stone trimmings and red tile roof. Ornamental iron work will be used about the doors and windows.

Both exterior and floor plan are decidedly different. Seven rooms in addition to a sewing room on the second floor are included in the plans. French doors opening on the brick terrace facing the garden will afford a popular style of Spanish inspiration. Excavation work will start this month.

Vernon Heights Addition One of City's Outstanding Home Section Developments

Plan for New District Conceived in 1916 and Consummated in 1920 with Organization of Vernon Heights Realty Co. and Purchase of 172 Acres

Among the outstanding developments in Marion within recent years is the Vernon Heights Realty Co. home addition in Southeast Marion.

The plan for this beautiful home section was conceived back in 1916. It was consummated in 1920 when the Vernon Heights Realty Co. was organized. In the fall of that year 172 acres of land were purchased.

This included the former McWilliams tract of 42 acres facing on Mt. Vernon-av just east of Grand-av and the Grant tract of 80 acres lying to the south, formerly known as the Huber farm, together with the new addition of the Cust tract of 50 acres to the west.

This acreage made it possible to connect up immediately with McKinley Park on the west and with the opening of Vernon Heights-blvd started a boulevard system for the city.

Improvement Plans

The new company began immediately to plan for improvement of the tract and the planting of trees and shrubbery. During 1921 and 1922 more than 1,000 trees and a large amount of shrubbery were planted. Many contracts were also let for the improvement of the tract.

Platting of the property and the landscaping work was done by William Pitkin Jr. and his associate, Seward H. Mott of Cleveland, two men nationally known in this kind of work.

Today the property shows for itself how well it was planned and the work executed. The new idea of having one wide thoroughfare through the subdivision, looking ahead to a city's future growth, was used to advantage in a two-way street, all traffic moving south on the west asphalt road and all traffic moving north on the east roadway.

Parkways

On Vernon Heights-blvd there is a 44 foot parkway lying between the two asphalt stretches, converted into grass plots studded with shrubbery. An entrance park has also been provided and improved in the same manner.

In the center of this new home addition and about a half mile from Mt. Vernon-av lies what in time to come will be one of the city's best parks.

This tract comprises nearly four acres. At this point Vernon Heights-blvd curves to the west and connects with McKinley Park, running on through to Delaware-av and Prospect-st.

At the junction of Vernon Heights-blvd and the Marion-Delaware-pk or Delaware-av extended the Harding Memorial Association is constructing an $800,000 marble memorial monument to President and Mrs. Warren G. Harding. With the completion of this monument and the landscaping of the site there will be no prettier drive through the city than that offered by Vernon Heights-blvd.

Beauty Spot

Vernon Heights today is recognized as one of the city's beauty spots. There are fourteen homes either already built or in the process of construction. O. W. Gamble this month will start excavation for a Spanish type home on the boulevard. A picture of this home appears above.

Karl W. Schell, realtor, is now building a fine seven-room home on Lexley-av. It is particularly interesting in arrangements. The plans on which this home is constructed won first prize in a Marion architectural contest recently.

A well arranged colonial home is being built by A. J. Milliron, contractor, for Dr. W. A. Dennis on Chelsea-rd.

W. A. Pinshak, connected with the credit department of the Marion Steam Shovel Co., is building a new home on King-av just west of the boulevard. John Hildauf & Sons are the contractors.

R. T. Lewis, president and active head of the Vernon Heights Realty Co., says he believes there is a very good reason for the citizens' approval of this new home site section.

Thoroughly Improved

The property is thoroughly improved with sewers, paving, gas, electricity and water. The land is high and the air clear and pure.

Restrictions are not prohibitive but are protective and have met the approval of every owner of the more than 100 lots already sold.

Homes costing $6,000 and up can be built but all plans must first be approved by the company. This assures the home owner next door that a square piano box will not be built next to him. All houses and garages must set back a certain distance from all streets and lot lines.

All electric and gas meters are placed in the garages and all phone and electric wires are brought in conduit underground from the garage to the house. Consequently there are no dangerous or unsightly wires overhead in the yards and gardens.

There are no alleys in the entire subdivision, the public utilities being taken care of by easements at the rear of all lots. The lighting system is by metal standards with underground wiring.

The parks and parkways are planted with shrubbery and each street is planted with a different tree. [illegible] Lexley-av has linden trees, [illegible] King-av is planted with linden, [illegible] Road has button woods and Virginia has pin oaks.

Building Costs

Mr. Lewis claims that it costs no more to build a home in Vernon Heights and no more to maintain it than it does in an unrestricted neighborhood.

Business each month of this year has exceeded the same month of last year and while but two homes were built in the Heights last year four are already under way for this year.

There is also much activity in the neighborhood of Vernon Heights. H. H. Waller is building a fine new stucco home on Henry-av south of Mt. Vernon-av.

B. G. Wetterauer is building a very pretty colonial home at 923 Mt. Vernon-av, one block east of Vernon Heights entrance.

Stewart G. Glasener, realtor, is building four houses on the corner of Mt. Vernon-av and Grand-av and one on Mt. Vernon-av facing down Vernon Heights Boulevard.

ONLY FIVE CONSTRUCTION PERMITS ISSUED IN WEEK

Plans for New Building Practically at Standstill in Marion

Plans for new construction work were almost at a standstill in Marion during the last week, only five building permits being issued from the office of the city clerk, the total estimated valuation being $1,060.

This is one of the lowest records of the year and is largely explained by the fact that this is invariably a dull season in building even during boom years.

The five permits were for three garages to cost $400, a bathroom estimated at $170 and remodeling of a dwelling to cost $500. During the preceding week there were nine permits including two for new dwellings, one valued at $2,700 and the other at $2,000.

Real estate dealers and builders generally are predicting a substantial increase in building for next year. They base this forecast on a steadily growing list of inquiries for homes.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

[illegible] was Saturday. A fella don't [illegible] of Saturday when it is va[illegible] when it is time for school [illegible] Saturday means a lot to him. [illegible] afraid that the grown-[illegible] fix it with the teachers to have [illegible] Saturdays, and then he would [illegible] get up sucker. I laid and [illegible] this morning till I almost [illegible] Jubilee out of bed. There is [illegible] to be Saturday, and then it [illegible] to be all off. It is pretty [illegible]

[illegible] this is the next to the last [illegible] we had a lot to do, and we [illegible] to the cows' tails going to [illegible] so we could get there [illegible] could come back quicker. [illegible] went to the school yesterday [illegible] around. If she likes the [illegible] she said she might ac[illegible] as a teacher. My moth[illegible]. My ant thinks she [illegible] everything. My mother thinks [illegible] if my ant can I wonder [illegible]. If I could go to work [illegible] lot of money I'd sure do it.

[illegible] was talking about a job this [illegible] and my grandfather said: "[illegible] you get married?" My [illegible] "I can't afford to." My grandfather got up and reached for his [illegible]-wheeled as far as the [illegible] door, and then he turned [illegible] and said: "Looks to me you [illegible] the age when you can't afford not to," and then he pulled the door shut after him just as a cup hit [illegible] "[illegible]!" said my mother. "I [illegible]," said my ant, "I knew he was getting ready to say something [illegible] and I was holding it ready for [illegible] wish it had hit him." My mother said, "Well, the cup is broken. [illegible] part of an open set, but I don't care to have the pieces broken." "I will pay you for it," said my ant. "With money you get from your brother, who is my husband," said my mother. And my ant got up and left the table and two pancakes and half of a fried egg which Jubilee got.

We played ball and mumblypeg, and got some apples out of an orchard and ran about five miles, and went swimming, and gathered some peaches, and went swimming again, and we went out to the poorhouse and wore our skins thin sliding down the slippery-slicks and down to the breakwater and dove off of it, and played marbles, and crawled into the window of Red's cellar, whose father is a huckster, and got our shirts full of bananas, and smashed a lot of them crawling out of the narrow window, and them that was not plastered on our stummicks we plastered in them. My father said I could set up as late as I wanted to, then they all went to bed and I didn't want to. I have pulled Jubilee up. Only one more Saturday.

He pulled the door shut after him just as a cup hit it

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

"The Lady Mouse Teacher from the Hollow Stump School is here to see you, Uncle Wiggily," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy to the rabbit gentleman one afternoon as he was thinking about going adventuring.

"To see me!" exclaimed Mr. Longears, who was hardly awake from his after dinner nap. "I guess she wants to see my forty 'leven little bunny children to make sure they will be back at school after Labor Day."

"No, she asked for you," said the muskrat lady, "and it's you she wants to see."

"Then she shall!" declared Mr. Longears like a gentleman he was, and he hopped out on the front porch of his bungalow where Miss Mouse was sitting to keep cool.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" squeaked the teacher, who was all tanned and brown from her summer vacation at the seashore, "will you please come to school with me?"

"Come to school with you!" exclaimed the bunny in surprise. "Why, my school days are over, long ago. Besides, this is Saturday. And besides again, school doesn't open until after Labor Day Monday."

"True enough!" squeaked Lady Mouse. "But I want to be sure everything in my school is ready for the opening on Tuesday. I don't like to go in all alone, after it has been closed so long over vacation. So I thought perhaps you would go in with me."

"I shall be most happy!" promised the polite rabbit and a little later he was on his way to the hollow stump school with the Lady Mouse Teacher.

The place had not been opened since it was closed late in June. There was dust on the windows, dust on the doorsill and cobwebs festooned all about in corners.

"The janitor rat will clean up everything before Tuesday," said Lady Mouse. "I just want to be sure there is nothing wrong," but as Uncle Wiggily opened the door for her a queer sound echoed in the empty school.

"What's that?" squeaked the mouse teacher, hiding behind Uncle Wiggily.

"The door hinges are rusty and they squeaked," said the bunny.

"It sounded more like a groan or a sorrowful sigh," whispered the Lady Mouse. "I am sure there is some one hiding in my school. Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Suppose it should be a tramp dog!"

But at that moment there came crawling along out of the door a very strange creature. It had ink bottles for eyes, and three pencils on one side for legs, while three pen holders were legs on the other side.

"Who are you?" cried Uncle Wiggily, who had to be brave for the Lady Mouse. "What are you doing here?"

"I am the School Bug," was the answer, "and I am doing no harm here. I have lived on chalk dust all summer and had a wonderful time. But now I suppose school will open soon and I shall have to take my vacation."

"I don't understand," said Uncle Wiggily. "How can you take a vacation when school opens? Vacations come when school closes."

"Not with me!" buzzed the bug, who was almost as large as the Lady Mouse. "You see I am a School Bug. I live all summer in closed schools, eating chalk dust and sleeping under book covers. I like to be alone and lonesome. I have read all the books in your school," he said to the Lady Mouse. "I know the geography book by heart. I can say the spelling book backward. I can do all the problems in the number book upside down."

"I wish some of my pupils were as smart as you," sighed the Lady Mouse.

"Perhaps we can get the School Bug to stay and show the animal children how smart he is," suggested Uncle Wiggily. But the Bug shook his head, which was made of blackboard erasers, and oggled his ink bottle eyes as he said:

"No, I must go away until school closes again and then I will come back. I am going on my long vacation." So the queer bug crawled away on his pen and pencil legs, and Uncle Wiggily and the Mouse Teacher, entering, found the hollow stump all ready for the bell to ring on Tuesday morning. Perhaps I shall tell you more about the School Bug later, but if the tack lifter doesn't pull the tail of the letter Q and make T of it, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's fern basket.

"What's that?" squeaked the mouse teacher.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET CLOSED

The banks were open as usual as also were the New York Produce and Foreign Exchanges.

HOG RECEIPTS INCREASE AS WEEK ADVANCES

Summary of Cleveland Livestock Market Given; Cattle Receipts Heavier

Cleveland, Sept. 4—Hogs—Receipts at Cleveland were light the forepart of the week resulting in a price advance of 50c per hundred. Receipts increased as the week advanced. This increase together with liberal receipts from Western markets direct to packers caused a decline of 75c per hundred, the week closing slow with heavy hogs selling from $12.25 to $12.50; mediums $13.50; light hogs, light lights, and pigs at $14.25. The percent of pigs and extremely light hogs is getting very high resulting in a slow markets on these grades, and if the increase in this light weight stock continues they will probably sell below 200 lb. hogs before many days.

Calves—Receipts slightly heavier than last week. Monday's market was unusually high, bulk of the good natives selling at $17.50, with a few fancy at $18.00. This was a top heavy market, and general declines characterized trading for the balance of the week. Prices on the close were from $1.50 to $2.00 under the weeks opening.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts were the heaviest of any week so far this summer. Prices declined a half dollar Monday which placed best natives from $14.00 to $15.00. Steady prices prevailed the balance of the week with all offerings cleaning up every day.

Cattle — Receipts were unusually light Monday resulting in advances of from 25 to 50c over the previous week. Nearly all grades sharing this advance. The demand is especially keen on good yearlings as well as on all handy weight cattle carrying good finish but heavy stock is selling very slow as the dressed beef trade is showing decided preference for light weight cuts. Light weight cattle carrying good finish may be expected to sell well for some time in the future.

POLICE PENSION FUND CONCERT BACKERS BUSY

Possibility of Calling Off Benefit Entertainment Has Apparently Vanished

Practically all possibility of calling off the concert scheduled for the evening of September 10 to obtain money for a Policemen's Pension Fund had apparently vanished today as promoters continued with the advance sale of tickets and reported that gratifying progress was being made.

Antonio Papania, head of the Springfield amusement company promoting the project, is directing the sale.

Safety Director W. B. Strayer, who represents the police department in carrying out the contract with Papania, stated today that there had been no change in the situation. He had expected to talk over the matter with City Solicitor Grant E. Mouser Jr. before this time but the solicitor has not returned from Cedar Point, where he attended the convention of the State Elks' Association during the week.

Conflicting Stories

Papania says that he and his solicitors have been cordially received in most of the business houses where tickets have been offered for sale. In conflict with this claim, however, is the report from Merchants' Bureau headquarters that at least one store has filed a statement to the effect that the management and clerks refused to purchase tickets.

Soliciting of any sort in local stores is said to be contrary to the rules of the Merchants' Bureau unless permission has been granted by Bureau officials. As a consequence the sale of the concert tickets is regarded as unauthorized.

"We want the public to understand that the Merchants' Bureau is not opposed to the promotion of any worthy enterprise and that our organization stands ready to give such projects every possible measure of assistance," a Bureau official said today. "We must enforce our agreement to soliciting as a matter of protection, however. Allowing promiscuous sale of tickets, advertising or any other type of promotion matter to go on in the stores would be injurious to business as well as to the undisturbed service that the owners of stores aim to give their customers."

Antonio Papania announces that he will be in Marion until the day of the concert with the exception of a few days to be spent in New York City, where he will meet his brother, Edward, when he arrives Tuesday from Europe. He refers to his brother as a "celebrated dramatic tenor" who will soon be heard in grand opera.

Notice is hereby given that on the 27th day of August, 1926, The St. Paul's English Lutheran Church of Marion, Ohio, through its Church Council filed its petition in the Common Pleas Court of Marion County, Ohio, being cause Number 15810, praying for authority from the said court to encumber the following described real estate belonging to said church:

Tract 1. Situated in the City of Marion, County of Marion and State of Ohio, and being part of section 25, township 5, South Range 15 East described as follows:

Beginning at an iron pin the intersection of the east line of Windsor Street and the North line of Bellefontaine Avenue; thence north along the east line of Windsor Street 294.2 feet to a point; thence east 155.9 feet to an iron pin 66.2 feet north of the north line of Bellefontaine Avenue; thence south 56.2 feet to the north line of Bellefontaine Avenue; thence in a southwesterly direction along the north line of Bellefontaine Avenue 215 feet to the place of beginning.

Tract 2. Also, situated in the City of Marion, County of Marion and State of Ohio, Known as being part of Lot Number Eight (8) new number Three Hundred and Thirty-five (335) in Sloan's Second Addition to the Village, now City, of Marion, Ohio, bounded and described as follows:

Commencing at the southeast corner of Lot heretofore sold and conveyed to George B. Curran, by deed dated July 3, 1905, recorded in Vol. 165, page 312, Records of Deeds, Marion County, Ohio, and in the west line of Windsor Street in said City; thence west along the south line of said George B. Curran's lot to the west line of Lot Number Three Hundred and Thirty-five (335); thence south along the west line of said Lot Three Hundred and Thirty-five (335) eighty (80) feet to a point, thence east on a line parallel with the south line of said George B. Curran's lot, to the west line of Windsor Street as aforesaid; thence north along the west line of Windsor Street, Eighty (80) feet to the place of beginning.

Said authority is asked for the reason that it is the desire of the members of said church to obtain a loan of $16,000.00 to pay certain indebtedness and finance certain loans which have been made in connection with building improvements made on real estate heretofore described as Tract 1, as in said petition more fully set forth.

Said application will be for hearing on and after the 27th day of September, 1926.

COMPETITION IN WORDS

One who goes into the market to buy a motor car today is naturally confused.

He has read the words best and greatest so often that they have ceased to be convincing. Where all is best, he reflects, there can be no best.

Thousand-dollar cars have been described to him in ten-thousand dollar language. And vice versa.

He finds himself the target in a war of adjectives; the helpless victim in a gigantic competition of words.

And so he is forced to rely on chance—the advice of friends—or his own limited experience.

Dodge Brothers, Inc., have never participated in this verbal competition.

They are content with the position they have long maintained in the far more vital competition of honest value.

They have continued steadily to improve their product, not only in comfort and beauty, but basically—beneath the body and hood where fundamental values lie.

Yet they have not unduly stressed each betterment that has marked the steady progress of their motor car toward a higher perfection.

And when economic conditions or greater sales have permitted them to reduce prices without reducing quality, they have announced the fact without excessive emphasis.

Unexaggerated truth is not spectacular. But in the long run, implicit public confidence has been Dodge Brothers reward, and this they propose to preserve forever by continuing to build just a little better than they tell.
